CONTENTS

FOREWORD ................................................................. 3
ABOUT THE AUTHORS ................................................ 5

Free Movement of European Union Citizens and Employment in the Public Sector ........................................ 6
1. Introduction ............................................................................... 6
2. The issues of free movement of workers in the public sector of EU Member States ........................ 8
3. Main findings of the report on the state of play in the Member States ........................................ 14
4. Conclusion ................................................................................ 18

Defining family members of EU/EEA nationals who are third-country nationals and addressing their legal situation in host EU Member States ........................................ 19
1. Introduction .............................................................................. 19
2. Definitional Issues ......................................................................... 19
3. Reverse Discrimination in the light of the European and International Human Rights Framework ... 21
4. Entry and Residence Rights .......................................................... 21
5. Implications of the Metock Judgment ............................................. 23
6. Abuse of Rights: Marriages of Convenience and Fraud ......................... 23
7. Access to Employment under Equal Conditions with National Workers ......................... 24
8. Conclusion ................................................................................ 25

Teixeira and Ibrahim: Looking back, looking forward or looking inwards? ........................................ 26
1. Introduction .............................................................................. 26
2. Article 12 Regulation 1612/68 ......................................................... 27
4. The referrals in Ibrahim and Teixeira ............................................... 29
5. Commentary .............................................................................. 31
6. Conclusion ................................................................................ 37