Foreword Editor-in-Chief ........................................... 5

Editor’s Introduction: Land, Power, and Democracy—
Christopher England .................................................. 13

Social Relations of Landed Property: Gentrification of a Polish
Enclave in Brooklyn—Filip Stabrowski .............................. 29

Land Value Taxation in Vancouver: Rent-Seeking and the Tax Revolt—Christopher England .................................. 59

Real Estate, Public Works, and Political Organization in Winnipeg,
1870–1885—Gustavo F. Velasco ................................... 95

Private Property in the Context of Community—
Matthew Hoffman ....................................................... 125

“Economic Policies Are the Best Social Policies”: West German
Neoliberalism and the Housing Question After 1945—
Margaret Haderer ....................................................... 149

John Dewey and Henry George: The Socialization of Land as a
Prerequisite for a Democratic Public—Christopher England .... 169